ENAGO EXPRESS

Everything Enago

What's New?

We are thrilled to announce that Enago Life Sciences, our medical communications arm, is at the 19th Annual Meeting of ISMPP (International Society for Medical Publication Professionals) in Washington DC.

Our team had a great time connecting with existing partners and widening our global network in the first two days of this three-day mega event for the medical communications industry. What made the experience even more special was witnessing 700+ international delegates from the industry wear our lanyards.

From enriching round table discussions on patient perspective research and insightful poster presentations, to engaging conversations on including patients in medical communication planning, Day 1 and Day 2 were packed with many exciting and impactful moments. We even had the pleasure of participating in the first-ever ISMPP Awards Night!

WHAT OUR CLIENTS HAVE TO SAY

"Firstly, we appreciate your effort and determination. Our article appears to be outstanding in terms of language use, grammar and word choice. Thank you."

"This was a proofreading of an abstract on statistics, but I feel that the person was not very professional. There were comments such as 'clear why you retested', but I thought if you look at the purpose and the statistical methods (intra- class correction coefficient), an expert would know."

"It was my poor English text, but your company did a very good job pf proofreading it, incorporating my intentions for writing it. Thank you very much."

"I was satisfied until the last correction, but this correction was actually not helpful because it was uniformly changed into a word with the same meaning. There were even a couple of things that were wrong. The result seem to be very different depending on the proofreader."

EDITOR SPEAK

MB1362, New Zealand

I discovered ENAGO while researching international companies that hired freelance editors. The recruitment process was straightforward and efficient, and I appreciated the opportunity to demonstrate my expertise to ENAGO through the sample test. I received my first assignment immediately, and further assignments thereafter, and received significant feedback over those first couple of months.

In the months following, my favorite part of working for ENAGO was the autonomy. I was able to adjust my weekly volume of work based on my availability for that week. I was pleasantly surprised at the efficiency of the ENAGO payment system, too; I could trust that I would be paid at the same time each month, with no issues. The introduction of the new invoicing system on the ENAGO platform has been excellent.

The ENAGO project management team is very responsive, which I appreciate, particularly in time-pressured circumstances. All in all, I have enjoyed my time working at ENAGO and have recommended the company to a number of friends and colleagues and I look forward to receiving more work from ENAGO in the coming months.

Joyna Michyari

(Senior Quality Analyst: Quality and Training)

If you were to write a book, what would the topic be?

One of my lifelong goals is to write books, so I have certainly pondered over this topic many times. If I have to pick one from all the ideas floating in my mind, I'd definitely write an LGBTQIA+ sci-fi themed adventure.

Would you rather be a tiny elephant or a giant hamster?

Giant Hamster! The bigger the floof, the greater the cuddles.

Favorite fruit: the aMAziNG One

Someone you would like to meet: Unrealistically, my future self. A little less unrealistically, Yoo Jae Suk.
